DELIBERATING NINE
TEEN HOURS.

TEN YEAR FIGHT ENDS

Important Legal Battles on Violation of Sherman Law
That Has Ever Been Fought.

Chicago, Ill., March 26.—Not guilty was the verdict which the jury returned today in the trial of the ten Chicago packers, accused by the government of violation of the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The verdict was returned before United States District Judge Carpenter after the jury had deliberated more than nineteen hours.

After a legal fight lasting over a period of ten years the case of the ten indicted Chicago packers—one of the most important cases ever prosecuted

MURDERER EXECUTED ON SCAFFOLD TODAY

Rasco, Who Was Convicted of Murder of Entire Family in Missouri, Protested Innocence Before Hanging.

Marionville, Mo., March 26.—Rex Rasco, murderer of the Hubbell family of four, was hanged in the yard of the county jail at six o'clock this morning. Rasco protested his innocence on the scaffold and recited the twenty-third Psalm.

Rasco murdered Mr. and Mrs. Olin Hubbell and their two small children at their home near Guilford, Mo., on Nov. 29, 1910, and then set fire to the home to cover the crime. Blood hounds taking the scent at the scene of the crime followed a trail to Rasco's room in his father's home where a blood-stained pair of overalls were found. Rasco was spirited to St. Joseph to prevent a lynching.

The motive assigned by the state was Rasco's desire to recover money won from him by Hubbell in a poker game. Rasco, when sixteen years

REPUBLICANS FAVOR TAFT IN INDIANA; NEW YORK PRIMARY

Minority Report of Convention Seeking Roosevelt Delegates Is Tabled—Hot Contest in New York City.

Indianapolis, March 26.—By a vote of 772 to 667 the Indiana republican convention for the election of four delegates-at-large to the national convention today tabled the minority report of the executive committee seeking to contest Roosevelt delegates.

The Indiana republican convention then adopted a resolution instructing the state's four delegates-at-large to the national convention to vote for the re-nomination of President Taft.

National Committeeman Harry S. New, former vice-president Charles W. Fairbank, James E. Watson and Joseph D. Oliver were elected delegates.

The Taft faction had a majority of one hundred and fifty over the supporters of Col. Roosevelt.

The Roosevelt delegates held a separate convention in the rear of the hall upon the adjournment of the convention and elected as delegates-at-large former Senator A. J. Beveridge, Fred Landis, Edwin Lee and Charles H. Campbell.

SUPREME COURT MAY DECIDE "HARD COAL" CASE NEXT MONDAY

Decision on Important Suit to Dissolve Illegal Combination Expected at Crucial Moment.

Washington, March 26.—With the court awaiting to see if the American coal mines are to be placed by a general strike, the Supreme Court of the United States next Monday may contribute to the situation by announcing its decision in the "hard coal" case.

Most of the other long-standing cases of difficulty have been decided, leaving the court almost free during the present recess to devote itself to solving the intricate problems involved in the suit of the government to dissolve the alleged illegal combination of railways and their subsidiary coal companies in Pennsylvania's anthracite region.

No Nearer a Settlement.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 26.—Differences between the coal miners and operators over the question of new wage agreements, involving the possibility that more than four hundred and fifty thousand miners will quit work next Monday, when their present wage scales expire, today appeared to be no nearer a settlement.

The conference of the miners and operators of the bituminous fields of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois reconvened after adjourn-

SEVENTY-NINE MEN IMPRISONED TODAY BY MINE EXPLOSION

Accident in West Virginia Coal Mine Traps Nearly Hundred Men—A Number of Deaths Expected.

Welch, W. Va., March 26.—An explosion in the mine of the Joe Coal and Coke company at least six miles south of here today imprisoned seventy-nine men, of whom up to noon ten had been taken out alive and one dead.

Rescuing parties are making frantic efforts to reach the other miners and there are high hopes that with a few exceptions the remaining sixty-eight may be recovered.

Cause Is Unknown.

The cause of the explosion is not yet known.

Two mine rescue cars have been ordered to lead by the bureau of mines, the first being due shortly after two o'clock from St. Paul, Va. The mine inspector is already on the scene.

Ordered to Scene.

Pittsburgh, March 26.—Director Holmes commanded orders for car No. 26 at Irwin, Pa., to go to lead, and ordered car No. 1, of Pittsburgh, in charge of Foreman D. L. Davis and Engineer G. H. Baker, to proceed to the scene of the mine disaster.

WILL PLAN RELIEF FOR MINERS UNLESS STRIKE ENDS SOON

Leaders in Conference State That They Will Return to Their Districts if Settlement Is Not Reached.

London, March 26.—Unless the national miners' strike is settled within two or three days and the million miners returned to the pits the mine leaders will go back to their respective districts in order to organize maintenance and relief for the distress of the families and will ask other organizations to assist them.

This is the substance of a statement made by one of the men who has been foremost in the negotiations on the men's side. He insisted that the miners had no intention of further reduction in their demands.

Owners Give Way.

On the other hand, there is some indication that the owners have given way on one point. They have expressed their willingness to grant the specified wage if an exception is made in the cases where coal and rent are given in part payment of wages.

Thousands upon thousands of people in every district in the country are existing only on the meagre allowance of soup and bread distributed by charitable societies and institutions.

Iron Works Close.

Fortunately the weather is mild but still pathetic details come to hand of conditions prevailing in the midlands and in the north.

All the iron works and furnaces along the Tees side have now been closed adding 25,000 to the grand total of unemployed and today notices were given to five thousand railway clerks to quit work at the end of this week.

Visit Is Postponed.

King George today cancelled the arrangement for his visit to Liverpool to attend the grand national steeple chase on Friday, March 29, Telegraphing to Lord Derby, with whom he had intended to stay, King George said: "The continuance of this disastrous coal strike makes it impossible for me to make any plans to leave London."

In a short speech in the house of commons this afternoon, Premier Asquith confessed the government's failure to terminate the coal strike as follows: "We have done our best with perfect thoroughness and impartiality and it is with profound disappointment that I have to confess to the house that all our labors have been unavailing."

The coal mine owners of the south-west coal district left the counsel chambers at the foreign office at four this afternoon, where conferences with the cabinet had been held showing every evidence of being disgusted.

"We have chucked it," said one of them, "because the miners constantly are meeting our concessions with new demands. Premier Asquith however, still clings to the shreds of his optimism."

HILLSVILLE COURT IS AGAIN OPENED; SEARCH CONTINUED

Judge Staples on Bench Where Judge Massey Was Shot Down—To Call Grand Jury to Indict Murderers.

Hillsville, Va., March 26.—The twelve days' search for the fugitive Allen outlaws, goes on in the Blue Ridge Mountains near by.

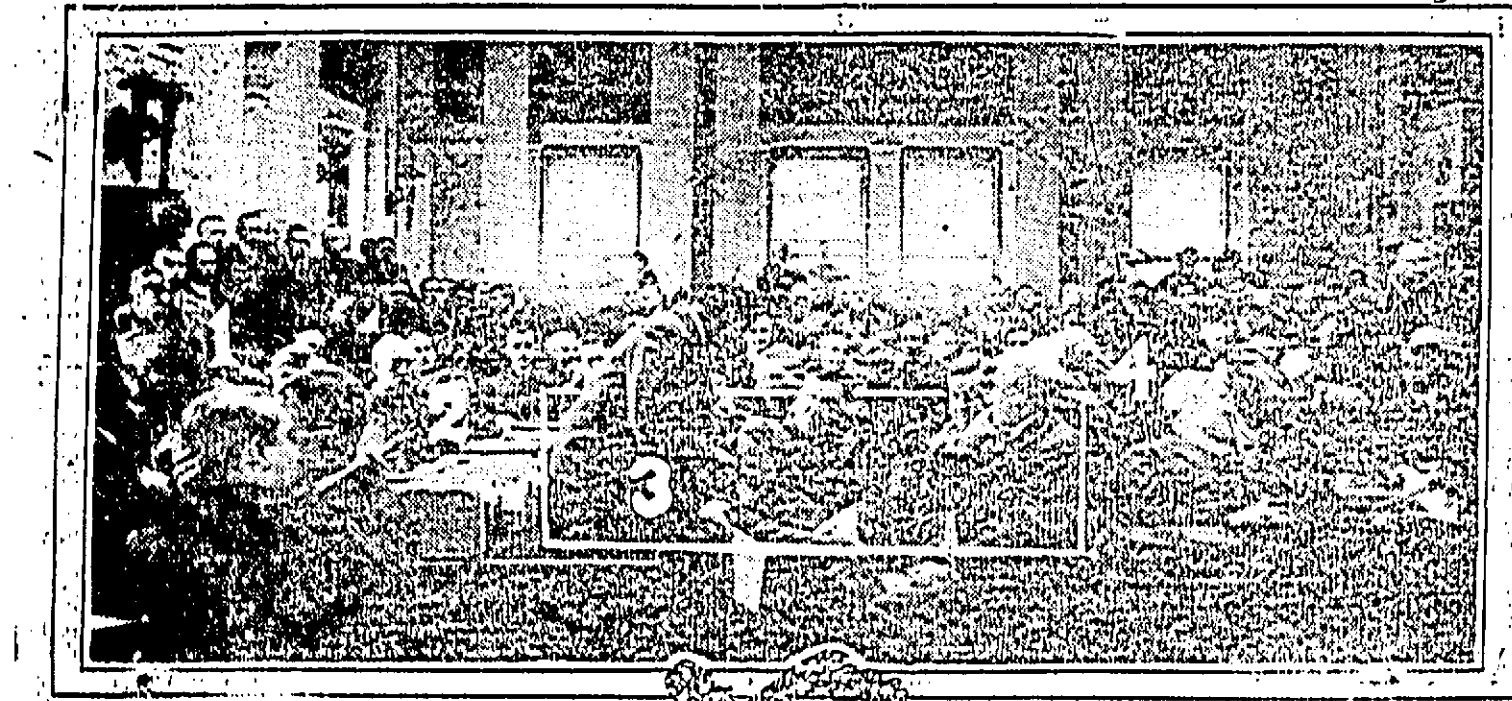

Judge Walter H. Staples today opened the Carroll County circuit court for the first day after the session interrupted so tragically by the shooting of Judge Massey.

The business of the day was the clearing of the late Judge Massey's calendar and the hearing of argument on motion by the counsel for the Allen family to place attachment on the property belonging to the claimants by relatives of the victims of the court house tragedy.

Judge Staples tomorrow will empanel a grand jury to return new and more carefully drawn indictments against the murderers.

A date for the trial of Floyd and Victor Allen, Sidney Edwards and Bird Marion will be set then. It is probable that it will be April 15th.

The detectives in the mountains early today were able to report nothing further than that they had been close upon the heels of Sidney Allen and his nephews several times during the last day or two and hoped to run them down soon. Leaders of the posse think they finally will state out the outlaws cutting off their communication with moonshiners and other friends.

by the federal authorities for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law—was given to the jury at 1:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Judge Judge George A. Carpenter, who presided at the trial, said the first ballot was taken, but the verdict was reached. On account of the weak condition of Juror H. A. Luckin, who has been ill for several days from the strain, the jury was taken from the federal building to the Majestic hotel at 9:45 o'clock last night, which unless a verdict impossible before today.

It took Judge Carpenter just forty minutes to deliver the charge to the jury. Every precaution was taken by the court to prevent the semblance of jury tampering. The corridor on the sixth floor of the federal building leading to the room where the jurors were deliberating was cleared of all spectators and deputy marshals were placed on guard.

old, was convicted of the murder of a woman by striking her with a stove lid and served ten years in prison. Later he served two years for horse stealing.

The letters written by Rasco to the Rev. Miller, his spiritual adviser, to be opened after the execution, and which was believed to be a confession, simply thanked them for the comfort they have given him and for "showing him the way to everlasting life."

It closes with a warning to young men to abstain from gambling, especially with cards, to shun bad company, and to leave liquor alone.

Roosevelt will have a test of their relative strength in this state today at the first election under the new primary law.

Hot Contests.

In New York City the light centers in the boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, and "up the state." The principal contest will be in the 2nd district where Vice President Sherman voted, and the 26th where the "progressives" have put into the field a ticket for national delegates.

Abbott's Ticket.

This ticket is headed by Lawrence Abbott, Col. Roosevelt's editorial associate, the administration forces there being led by ex-Governor Odell.

Fair weather was expected to bring out a record primary vote in the city.

ment since last Friday, but, owing to the nonarrival of some of the delegates, a recess was taken until this afternoon.

Can't Grant Increase.

The operators issued a statement through J. C. Kolben, of Terra Haute, Ind., their spokesman, saying the owners would make no offers other than to extend the present wage agreement for another two years. This was the position they took when they adjourned last week after the conference had come to a deadlock.

The operators' statement follows: "A strike is preferable to the granting of the miners' demands. We cannot grant an increase, even if all other demands are waived. In other words, the operators cannot yield and if the miners don't, a strike will follow."

COMMENCE TRIAL OF LONDON SUFFRAGISTS

London Window-smashers Brought Up for Trial Today for Disorderly Conduct.

London, March 26.—A special sitting of the county of London sessions opened today for the trial of 126 women who had been committed by the police court magistrates in connection with the window-smashing raid in London on March 1st and 4th. Travers Humphreys, counsel for the treasury, in his speech for the prosecution, emphasized the fact that the raids were an organized attack on property and could not be tolerated.

Judge Robert Wallace sentenced a succession of suffragettes to terms ranging from four to six months' imprisonment. In some cases where the women undertook not to repeat the offense they were bound over to come up for judgment if called upon.

STEPHENSON FIGHT IS HOT IN SENATE

Several Speeches Yet to Be Delivered in Senate in Regard to Case.

A number of set speeches were yet to be delivered, including those of Senator Root of New York for Stephenson, and Borah of Idaho, Kern of Indiana, and Lea of Tennessee against him. The discussion is commanding the close attention of senators, not only on account of the pending case, but because of its possible bearing on the coming consideration of the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois. Both Senators Stephenson and Lorimer remain constantly in the senate chamber while the debate progresses.

PARIS POLICE PLAN USE OF FAST AUTOS

Paris, March 26.—At a special council meeting of the French cabinet this morning it was decided to strengthen and centralize the French detective department and to organize a division of expert service men to operate in swift automobiles so as to cope with the new type of bandit called the "auto bandit." A general alarm was sent out from the prefecture of police to all the police authorities throughout Europe in connection with the murders committed yesterday. No trace, however, has been found of the brigands who, besides killing a chauffeur at Villeneuve-St. Georges, held up a bank at Chantilly, killing two employees and wounding another, and stealing $8,000.

It is estimated that a loss of more than 1,000 dead and wounded was inflicted upon the enemy and according to reports great fear reigns among Gen. Orozco's men.

Lowell, Mass., March 26.—Nearly twenty thousand operatives in the seven cotton manufacturing plants of this city are idle until the existing differences between the agents and employees are adjusted by orders received today from the head offices in Boston to close all the mills connected with the local manufacturing association until further notice.

More than one thousand textile operatives in this city today joined the ranks of the two thousand strikers who are demanding a greater wage increase than that granted by the manufacturers. An early morning parade was led by strikers in the business and mill districts.

ENGINEERS PROPOSE A REFERENDUM VOTE

Committee Takes Steps to Find Decision on Action of Railroad—No Strike Talk As Yet.

New York, March 26.—The demands of the employees of the fifty railroad out of Chicago and north of the Norfolk and Western Railway having been refused and neither of the committees of the railways and engineers indicating any retreat from their position, a move was made today to submit the whole matter to a referendum vote of the engineers to see what policy should be pursued. There has been no talk of a strike. In fact, Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said that "many things could happen before a strike took place."

"We are not talking of a strike," said Chief Stone. "We believe our demands are just, or we would not have made them."

To Take Strike Vote.

Fifty representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, headed by Warren S. Stone, voted here today to submit to a so-called strike vote the question of increase and standardization of wages as refused by the eastern railways. It will require several days to distribute the ballots among the engineers. April 10 has been set as the date for making public in this city the result.

Three Boats With One Hundred and Fifty Passengers Caught in Ice Six Miles Off Evanston.

Chicago, March 26.—Three steamers which were caught in the ice off Evanston last night were reported to be six miles out in the lake today, battling with ice flows in an attempt to reach Chicago. An unbroken stretch of ice separated the vessels from the port and there seemed to be no hope of reaching shore before evening unless the wind shifted. Fears for the safety of the one hundred and fifty persons on board, however, were allayed by wireless messages.

All of the boats are well provisioned, have plenty of coal and there are no serious suffering on board. The marooned seamen are the "Icehoes" of the Northern Transportation company, the "Albatross" and the "Georgie" of the Goodrich Transit Fleet.

LINK AND PIN

C. M. & St. Paul. ST. PAUL ROAD BUYING MORE NEW LOCOMOTIVES.

Contracted for Sixty. Are Building Some and Want to Buy Sixty Five More New Engines.

The Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway have recently purchased sixty new locomotives and are now in the market for sixty five more besides the ones which they are building in their own shops. Evidently the St. Paul believes in the future of business despite the fact that the ordinary volume of trade is not expected in a presidential election year according to rule. It is not expected that any of the new engines will be placed on the local division.

Every possible carrier is being pressed into service to enable the railroads to handle all the coal which can be obtained before the supply is cut off by the threatened strike of the coal miners. Every possible place along the line is being utilized for coal storage and large quantities are being piled in the open where bins have been filled to overflowing at a number of places. The ground north of the roundhouse here has been surrounded by a framework of ties and is being filled with coal as fast as possible so that the local storage sheds may be refilled if they run out during the expected shortage.

The turn table is undergoing an overhauling and repairing today and the pit is being cleared out as fast as the ice melts.

The round house has a large supply of engines this week being filled to the last stall. Business is still running heavy.

Serious trouble is not expected this spring on account of floods and the Mineral Point division is the one which will probably be the most affected when the weather softens up. The spring thaw will probably cause some of the trains to slow up a little on account of loose road bed but it is expected to make a great deal of difference in the time of local trains.

STOMACH MISERY

JUST VANISHES

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia Go Five Minutes After Taking Pape's Diaprepain.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diaprepain in the house handy? This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy stomach five minutes after. Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diaprepain, then you will readily see why it makes indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, everyday cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest. Instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which poisons the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poisons the breath with nauseous odors. A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diaprepain.

BORAH DEFENDS THE PRIMARY SYSTEM IN A SPIRITED SPEECH

Makes Long Address in the United States Senate This Afternoon in Favor of Pet Measure.

Washington, D. C., March 26.—Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the progressive republican leaders of the Senate, speaking in that body today charged both the great political parties with utter failure in their campaigns to give to the people clear and distinct issues as of old. He contrasted present issues with those discussed by Lincoln and Douglas.

"We awake each morning to a naturalness of personal drive, to blackness and quarrelling which have all the flavor of discussions carried on in the most rotten districts of the political grotesques of the lowest dives in the most rotten districts of our great cities," said Senator Borah. "One week our great dailies are teeming with the difference between Wilson and Harvey, the next week with Colonel Roosevelt and to some personal friend of Oyster Bay, the next week how the President failed to appreciate the worth of some rough rider and thereby changed the current of history."

"We could know the withering contempt and bitter scorn which the earnest and industrious people of this country really have for this cowardly abandonment of the great issues, for this betrayal of the destinies of a great party, some heroic effort would certainly be made to get away from the most shameful and disgraceful contentions that ever embarrassed a great cause. Turn back and read the great debates of Lincoln and Douglas whose intellectual giants fought for supremacy—seriously a personal division from beginning to end. They were leaders worthy of great parties and they held the confidence of men as few men have done."

Senator Borah said that both parties are drifting. He declared that the political party will win which gives to the people the clear and definite policy in its platform in the next campaign and puts upon the platform a man whose character is a guarantee that the pledge will be kept. It is immaterial, he said, under what name or under what banner the announcement is made.

Senator Borah was speaking in defense of the primary system which had been assailed by many senators in their discussion of the investigation of the case of Senator Stephenson. Wisconsin. Defending the primary system he said no one had ever contended it would make a bad thing worse and all men honest. "You had just as well deal in fraud against the whole moral law of God and the statutes which define and punish crime, because after three thousand years, notwithstanding the statutes, men still commit crimes," he said.

"Corruption cannot live under the primary system," said Senator Borah. "If men have the courage, as they will have, to punish those who stand exposed. A primary system accompanied with a corrupt practice act will make it impossible to control our elections by the use of money. Senator Stephenson could have put a million into a caucus and brought his purchased parliament of election here and the chances would have been one in ten thousand that it would ever have been known. But he put in a hundred thousand dollars and even without a corrupt practice act, and with an attempt to destroy original memoranda, the exposure is complete and the only thing now left to be determined is the judgment of the Senate."

It was argued by Senator Borah that if a rich man has no qualifications for office other than his money it will cost him money to run. But if the candidate represents some question of great moment, the Senator said, "if he deals in ideas and issues, instead of patronage and checks, he will win over all the money you can put into the fight. One of the very things for which I hold Senator Stephenson responsible in this campaign is that he entered the race with his bank account for his platform."

Senator Borah denied that primaries have disorganized parties. He condemned the old caucus system in politics and pronounced it the most "vicious, treacherous, subtle, venomous" ever operated to the detriment of the people.

"Parties come and go, live and die," said Senator Borah. "They come with a message and they go when they cease to have a message. They live so long as they offer to the voters a concrete and constructive plan with which to deal with human interests and human welfare—they die when abandoning all principles and all policies they fall into a contest over position and power and engage alone in the personal rows of ambitious leaders."

STATE SCHOOL FUND TO COUNTY SCHOOLS

$45,197 Received As State School Money Has Been Returned to Town, City and Village Treasurers.

Rock county raised for the year 1911, $45,197.84 which is apportioned among the various towns, cities and villages as state school money on the basis of $2.683 for each child of school age. In making their returns to the county treasurer the town, city and village treasurers are given credit out of the amount turned in for whatever is coming to their respective districts, as state school money. The list of the treasurers have made their returns and they have all received the state money which the township treasurers apportion among the various districts.

The figures for the various towns and cities are of interest. They show that outside of the cities of Beloit and Janesville, there are 3,364 children in the county receiving state aid. The total number, including the two largest cities is 16,840. In making the return to the treasurer the county treasurer reserves ten cents for each child with the exception of Beloit and Janesville, in favor of a county library fund from which the various schools in the county draw for their annual consumption of books. This amount for 1911 will be approximately $330.40.

Milton township received the largest amount of state money, having 659 children bringing $1,794.93. Plymouth was next with 469 children and $1,097.35.

Of the cities Beloit received the largest amount, having 4,534 children of the school age and receiving $12,164.72. Janesville had 4,008 children of the school age and received $10,753.46. Edgemoor came next with 816 children and $2,196.93.

The following table gives the number of children and the amount apportioned. The subtraction of ten cents for each child in the case of all the towns, cities and villages, with the exception of Beloit and Janesville, has not been made.

| City or Town        | No. of Children | Amount      |

WEATHER FORECAST.

Wednesday cloudy; brisk northwest winds, becoming variable.

UP-TO-DATE DOCTRINE.

The American secretary of state, in his first speech on his tour of countries adjacent to the Caribbean, utilized the opportunity to reaffirm the Monroe doctrine and to describe it as a "great bond" between the two Americas, one never more vital than today nor previously so significant as it will be with the Panama canal opened. By "Providence" it has been given to the United States to define the doctrine and interpret it, and never has it been invoked "to the detriment of the people of the south or operated to their hurt." The possibilities for the Americans that will follow opening of the canal are to be "imagined," creating for the western world an "entirely new situation, one fraught with possibilities so vast that they baffle the fancy."

In these and similarly superlative words Mr. Knox has endeavored to make clear to his hosts that the doctrine of America for Americans will gain in validity rather than diminish by man's heroic conquest of nature and union of the Atlantic and Pacific. Nor is the assertion disputable. Nations of the south, like Brazil, Chile and the Argentine Republic, have a thousand and one peculiarities as well as political romances today for asserting American hegemony that did not exist when the Monroe doctrine was first put forth, and they will have additional reasons when international trade has begun to use the isthmian short cut. The problem for the United States now is not to win assent to the doctrine by Latin-American states, but to deal with them, in respect to their own national affairs and their relations with the United States, so as to create an impression of fair play and genuine fraternity in defense of the republican ideal of government. The note to be sounded now is not so much one of having "Providence" as a past partner as it is in conferring present diplomatic and political policies with fundamental principles of ethics. Latin-Americans are not lying awake nights now fearful of invasion by German troops or bombardment by a fleet from the Baltic. But they are somewhat suspicious of the methods by which the United States sometimes acquires coveted territory and of the purity of motive back of financial re-imbursement of republics propped by European creditors. To alter this attitude by a frank disclosure of policy is the chief duty of Secretary Knox on this trip. If he fails in this, all the surface talk and the manifold courtesies of which his hosts are masters will be in vain.

Mr. Root, when secretary of state, once lauded the "sisterhood of American republics" in the following terms: "May every one of them grow in prosperity and strength. May the independence, the freedom of the rights of the least and weakest be ever represented equally with the rights of the strongest." Whenever that feeling has obtained, the moral influence of the United States has waxed in Latin-America.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT.

The National Eagle, published at Chalmers, N. H., prints the following relative to Roosevelt's opinion of Taft that is interesting:

"I do not believe there could be found in all the country a man so well fitted to be president. He is not only absolutely fearless, absolutely disinterested and upright, but he has the widest acquaintance with the nation's needs, without and within, and the broadest sympathies with all our citizens. He would be an emphatically a president of the plain people as Lincoln himself; yet not Lincoln himself would be freer from the least taint of democracy, the least tendency to arouse or appeal to class hatred of any kind."

"He has a peculiar and intimate knowledge of and sympathy with the needs of all our people—the farmer, the property-owner, no matter what a man's occupation or social position, no matter what his creed, his color or the section of the country from which he comes, if he is an honest, hard-working man, who tries to do his duty toward his neighbor and toward the country, he can rest assured that he will have in Mr. Taft the most fearless of champions."

"Mr. Taft stands against all privileges and he stands pre-eminently for the broad principles of American citizenship which lie at the foundation of our national well-being."

"I feel that the country is indeed to be congratulated upon the nomination of Mr. Taft. I have known him intimately for many years and I have a peculiar feeling for him, because throughout that time we have worked for the same objects, with the same purpose and ideals."

CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUND.

There are two communications in tonight's issue relative to the advisability of establishing public playgrounds for children throughout the city. The Gazette believes in this proposition and makes the following suggestion: If the city can not afford to give the children public playgrounds and equip them the Gazette will head the list with $50.00 to be used for the purpose of buying swings and other out-of-doors equipment for play spots for the children. Not only start the list, but will get as receding agent for the fund. There is plenty of room in the upper end of the Court House park in the fourth ward park and in the numerous little triangles the city owns throughout the city for such play purposes, and it means much to future generations as well as to the present. If the council would consider this question and act upon it instead of wasting hours of useless debate on a possible way to evade the state laws by passing ordinances not worth the paper they are written on, they would pass from the ken of the present political situation with at least one redeeming act to their credit.

YOUR SELECTION.

In making your selection on Tuesday next of your choice for mayor and councilmen stop and consider one thing. You are a stockholder in the big corporation of Janesville. You are placing your business interests in the hands of three men for the next two years. If you owned a private business upon which depended your personal livelihood and were going to Europe for an extended stay, which of the six men now before the public would you place in charge of your business while you were away? Which three men are best fitted to handle the affairs of a big corporation like Janesville. This is the question, and if you study it out for yourself you will choose wisely. The success of Janesville depends upon your selection and your own personal interests are at stake, so consider wisely and vote intelligently for the three best men in the list.

Taft and Roosevelt are still fighting it out on the same old line. Just now Taft is ahead, and strenuous today is wondering what ever made him believe the tale of the seven little governors after all.

The lawyers are still arguing about the question of the state election laws. Meanwhile the people vote next Tuesday, and if the law is all wrong that special session of the legislature will make it right.

A few more public-spirited citizens are needed to complete the list for the purchase of the West Side park. Step lively, gentlemen, and take a share or so to help the good cause along.

The spring thaw is coming. So the weather man says. So be prepared to clean up and make ready for summer. Not only clean up, but keep clean all summer.

If the press of the state would unite in demanding the repeal of the Mary Ann law and of the noxious income tax law they might obtain some definite results.

These are strenuous days for the candidates for commissioner. He must personally see the voters and explain his position on lots of questions.

The Social Union is going to learn a lot about politics tonight and some things that the public never dreamed of may be told.

North Dakota proved a blow to the hopes of the man from Saginaw Hill. He will not admit it, but it hurt, and hurt badly.

THE WATERWORKS.

"Water, water, everywhere"—And now what do you think? The taxes aren't high enough. So let us buy the drink.

Then let us bond the city. Four hundred thousand bucks. Follow that classic counsel. And "Start in raising ducks."

For then we'll own the water. And nevermore go dry; (disdains we might gather. Will pass us swiftly by.)

We do not need the money—Our taxes are too low—What if a few factories Pull up their stakes and go?

Things like that won't matter—We'll give the help a rest—And when we need more money, Why, we'll be reassessed.

When the help has rested up, And merchants come adorning, We'll take them to the waterworks, And show how fine it's running.

Maybe some new factories, That figure to come here, Might kick about the taxes—But we could make it clear

That, at the root of evil Money always lurks—Think of our importance—We own the waterworks!

We are sure this argument Will give us great position; We'll run the works—perhaps, so will The State Railway Commission.

We'll have our say in running it; We'll put it in condition; Make our own rates—perhaps, so will The State Railway Commission.

And as we do it out just now It's a simple proposition; We pay the tax; they do the rest—The "Water, water, everywhere,"—Not any drop in the main, "Water, water, everywhere,"—Particularly on the brain.

Unkind.

Howell—"What business is he in?" Powell—"I'm not certain, but I think he has discovered a sure cure for brains."

The Philosopher of Folly. "Women are sure their husbands are smart," says the Philosopher of Folly, "because they think maybe they can make some other women think it's true."

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

NEVER AGAIN.

The poets sing Of gentle spring In language that is rich. They bank a bluff And sell the stuff To magazines and such.

And rhyme about The fragrance of the air And of the joy Without alloy.

That lingers everywhere, But when it comes And rains and blows And does a dozen stunts

With hail and sleet And lightning about And does 'em all at once; And nature drops And deftly flops

A back-handed somersault, I think right now You will allow It's time to call a halt.

My lyrics are all And never will Twang for you as of yore. Oh, gentle spring, You flicker thus, I'll back your game no more.

'Twas ever thus. Folks all thought Hank was a fool. Never knew a thing in school. Traded jackknives when he should have been studyin' up good.

Never reached the seventh grade. Folks all said they were afraid Hank would pan out mighty bad. Ignorance, that was his fate.

Brother Elmer, he was bright. Studied hard, both day and night. Took the honors of his class. Never a doubt that he would pass.

Folks viewed Elmer with great pride. He had all the great men tied. They said he would reach the top. Naught on earth would make him stop.

Somehow things seemed to go wrong. Hank grew rich ere very long. Owned a trust and proudly sat In the senate, calm and fat.

Owned three autos and a yacht. What he bankered for he got. That's what happened to the fool. Elmer? Oh, he's teaching school.

La Crosse, Wis., March 26.—Eighteen months at hard labor in Wausau was the sentence meted out to George Clark for abusing his mother. This Store is your guide:

Through the maze of Spring Fashions gathered from the four corners of the earth, through highways and by ways of style—this store is your guide.

If all styles were good styles, there would be no need for guidance. You would choose merely a favorite color and a popular material, without discrimination. But styles are different. The woman of fashion may know every detail of correctness, she may know what is absolutely proper, what is the range of style in Paris and New York. Or she may not know.

But the experienced, painstaking buyers of this store, they know. Their business is to keep in constant touch with the highest authorities. They bring the fashion centers of the world to Janesville. They have selected, as only they can the garments that you will hold in greatest favor.

Thus it is the function of this store to discriminate for you, to separate the chaff from the wheat, the questionable style from the correct fashion, the bad from the good, and the wonderful style exhibit soon to be announced is more than beautiful, it is absolutely correct, absolutely proper. This store is looked upon not merely as a store of merchandise, but as a store of guidance, assuring you the best selection and protecting you from an indiscriminate choice.

"In you really pull teeth without pain?" he said.
 "Come in," I answered, "and we will see about it."
 "You'd better not hurt," said he.
 "I'm a terror and I fight."
 As he usual in my work, the tooth came out all O. K.
 As the patient left my room, he said, "you didn't hurt me a bit. You are all right."
 Instances like this prompt thinking people to bring their work to me. They are sure not to be disappointed.

MILK DISHES.

Often times milk is the only food which an invalid and child can take, and when they tire of it the great question is how can they be nourished?

There are so many ways of disguising milk in other forms and combining with different foods to make wholesome and nutritious dishes, that every one who has a family to feed should make a study of these things.

Milk that an infant cannot digest is worse than food. A baby should be carefully weighed each week, for it is not always possible to detect a slight falling off. When the child shows a decrease in weight the first thing to do is to consult a good physician, and carefully follow his directions in regard to feeding. The milk may be too rich in fat, there may be too much casein, or it may be too hard to digest, so that the milk may have to be modified.

One method of modifying milk is to use the whey, which is made from using rennin tablets. Add this whey to the milk and the casein content is decreased with an addition of salts, sugar of milk and minerals, which are necessary for the growth of the child.

Many babies die each year because of ignorance on the part of the mother in regard to their food. Milk treated with rennin tablets, sweetened and flavored, is often relished by invalids who absolutely refuse to take pure milk as a food.

Milk is not a beverage, and should never be taken as such, for large quantities of milk entering the stomach at once form a hard mass which is almost impossible to break up. Milk should be taken slowly in sips, so that the gastric juices curdle it in small amounts at a time.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By A. W. MACY.

DUCKING FOR SCOLDING WOMEN.

In other days, especially in European countries, unique measures were sometimes adopted for the discipline of scolding women. One method was ducking, a genuine cold water treatment. A chair was fastened to the end of a well sweep overhanging the well. The offending woman was placed in the chair and securely tied. Then the chair and its occupant were lowered into the well sufficiently to give the woman a thorough wetting. The process was usually repeated twice, three immersions being considered necessary to effect a cure. An English gentleman writing in 1780 says:

"In my time, when I was a boy and lived with my grandfather near Magdalen College, Cambridge, I remember to have seen a woman ducked for scolding. The chair hung by a pulley, fastened to a beam about the middle of the bridge; and the woman having been fastened in the chair, she was let under water three times successively, and then taken out. The ducking stool was constantly hanging in its place, and on the back panel of it was an engraving representing devils laying hold of scolds. Some time after a new chair was erected in the place of the old one, having the same device carved on it, and well painted and ornamented."

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Value of Cheese in Luncheon Dishes And With Green Salads.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

At this season, no butter combination can be eaten than a green salad with some of a cheese dish both for taste and for good value.

Cheese sandwiches with a salad is sufficient for luncheon on a spring day. Cream a rounding tablespoon of butter with one-half level teaspoon of dry mustard and a salt spoon of paprika. Stir in slowly two rounding tablespoons of finely grated cheese adding a teaspoon of lemon juice while mixing. Spread between sandwiches.

Serve cheese straws freshly made and if any good pie paste is left over it can be made into excellent straws. Roll it out thin, sprinkle with grated cheese and dust a little salt and paprika over. Fold the other half over and press lightly then cut in strips three-quarters of an inch wide and about five inches long. Bake until a delicate brown and serve piled on a plate in log cabin fashion.

Other cheese straws are made from two rounding tablespoons of butter, three of mild cheese and one of rich strong cheese, one beaten egg, four rounding teaspoons of sifted flour, a salt spoon of salt and a dash of red pepper. Beat five minutes then roll out as thin as possible, cut in straws half an inch wide and two inches long; bake slowly.

A set of little baking dishes is of great value for making tasty luncheon dishes, like cheese ramekins for instance. For these heat one-quarter cup of the bread crumbs in one-quarter cup of milk until soft, add one-quarter cup of grated cheese, a rounding tablespoon of butter, a salt spoon each of salt and mustard, a few grains of cayenne and the yolk of one egg beaten. Mix well, fold in the whites of two eggs beaten stiff and all buttered ramekins not much over half full. Bake about five minutes and serve hot in the same dishes.

A cheese soufflé, like all other soufflés, must be served as soon as it comes from the oven. Melt one-quarter cup of butter in a sauce pan, stir in one rounding tablespoon of flour and when smooth add one-half cup of milk, the yolks of three eggs well beaten, one cup of grated cheese, a speck of cayenne and one-half level teaspoon of salt. Let the mixture cool and add the whites of three eggs beaten stiff and dry. Fold the whites in carefully without beating. Turn the mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven twenty minutes to half an hour.

Another soufflé is well recommended. Heat one cup of milk in a double boiler, add one-half cup of fine bread crumbs and cook until smooth. Add one-half cup of grated cheese, a rounding teaspoon of butter and a little salt and pepper.

When the cheese is dissolved take from the fire and fold in the whites of two eggs beaten stiff. Turn into a buttered baking dish, bake fifteen or twenty minutes and serve at once in the same dish. Either of these soufflés can be baked in the small ramekins.

Cheese cream toast is another way of getting more nutrition into a simple food. Toast six slices of stale bread and cover each thinly with grated cheese. Make a white sauce with two level tablespoons each of butter and cornstarch, a level teaspoon of salt and two cups of milk. More butter would be needed if the cheese were not added. Set the toast into the oven until the cheese melts then pour the sauce over and serve. The sauce should be cooked fifteen or twenty minutes in a double boiler.

FOOD AND CANCER.

Dr. Malcolm Seymour of Boston believes that "the solution of the cancer problem will be found in the scientific investigation of the common forms of food," according to a recent newspaper dispatch. He thinks eggs are especially dangerous in this respect. "The theory has not been proved as yet," he is reported as saying, but he thinks that "if some living cells of the raw egg were to attach themselves to an intestinal ulcer or sore they might begin there the malignant growth which almost invariably means death." The important point to note is that there must be a constitutional condition favorable to cancer before it can develop, as in consumption, and that prevention consists in maintaining normal nutrition.

WEDDING GLOVE FOR BRIDE

Third Finger Is Left Unstitched So That the Ring Can Be Slipped On.

A happy era has dawned for the bride at the fateful moment when the ring is about to be placed on her finger.

Instead of the usual struggle to remove her left hand glove she will now be able to uncover the third finger without effort and without losing her composure.

This delightful result is to be obtained by an ingenious "wedding glove" device. The inside seam on the third finger of the left glove is unstitched, so that all that the bride need do is to slip her finger through the slit to receive the ring. The finger can just as easily be slipped back into the glove after the ceremony.

The device will be greatly appreciated not only by the bride, but also by the nervous bridegroom.

The story of the origin of the wedding glove has come to light. Sometime ago a girl who had lost her right arm in the hunting field asked for a single wedding glove.

She remarked on the awkwardness of having to remove her glove with the help of her teeth, and it was then seen that matters would be greatly facilitated for the bride if she only had to uncover the ring finger.

The experiment was so successful that it aroused the interest of other prospective brides, who saw in it a boon which would save them from the usual difficulties of removing a whole glove in the moment when the ring is about to be put on.—Exchange.

Whence the "Grass Widow."

To give positively the origin of the expression "grass widow" appears to be impossible. The authorities do not agree on this point. One contends that a woman who said to her friends that her husband "had gone to grass" following a separation is entitled to the credit of coining the expression.

Other writers have attempted to find an explanation of it in the French word "grasse," signifying a widow by courtesy. In the Scandinavian languages the prefix "grasa" being in common use, others have conjectured that it comes from the word "grading," meaning greedy; this signifying a woman who longs for the husband who is gone.

These give a wide enough choice.

Friendly Advice.

"We surprised all our friends by getting married."

"Good enough. Now surprise 'em by staying married."—Kansas City Journal.

Is Beauty a Handicap for a Girl?

SOLOMON says there is nothing new under the sun. But if Solomon had heard a recent statement in regard to a certain pretty girl, methinks he would have sat up, meditatively scratched his head, and then drawn a blue pencil through that famous remark of his. For the statement was to the effect that this girl was so exceptionally pretty that the men whom she really wished to attract by her brains, for she is a girl of unusual mentality, would have nothing to do with her. They set her down as the usual frivolous, superficial beauty who craved admiration, and they would have none of her. And she, perforce, had to content herself with the callow youth who flocked about her, because her nose was straight and her eyes a violet blue.

Surely this world is changing, when men turn away from a pretty girl, brain or no brain. Even though the man may have gray matter of an unusually fine grain in his own brain-cells, he generally is not loath to gaze upon a peachy skin, a fascinating dimple, and the alluring lines of a winsome face. That he should turn from these because he feels, alas, their owner cannot discuss the tariff or currency reforms, hints at the speedy dissolution of the world. Already the first faint sounds of Gabriel's horn seem wafted over the far horizon.

But the woman who made this statement stoutly maintained it. She knows the girl well. This girl is really exceptionally brilliant, mentally. She is also kind-hearted and unselfish, and is working hard to put a younger brother and sister through college. But she is strikingly handsome and she dresses in a rather dashing fashion. And men whose company she would enjoy, because they would be on an equality mentally, simply pass her up as a beautiful, stylish doll.

One can understand that a serious-minded man doing some big work in the world, and seeing a very beautiful girl surrounded by a crowd of callow youth, might not care to break into such a circle. He would perhaps be justified in thinking there was nothing there of interest to him.

But if the girl has the unusual intelligence and fine character with which she is credited, and finds little pleasure in the society of these callow youth, would she encourage them? And would she not, even in a chance meeting with men of her own calibre, so impress them with her personality that they would want to know her better?

It is easy to understand how a girl of intelligence and character would not want to be liked simply for the shape of her nose or the color of her eyes. But beauty should not be a handicap. It is a girl's right to be beautiful. And if she puts her beauty in its right place, those who meet her will soon find in her a greater beauty than her mere physical charms. The force of character is soon felt, and she should be all the more attractive because she has a personality that delights, as well as a form that pleases.

Beauty need never be a handicap unless it is misused. It is a very precious gift and requires most careful handling not to work harm. But the girl who has beauty and likewise brains will be liked in the long run for what she is, and not what she appears. If she conducts herself in a way that expresses her real personality.

CIVIC QUESTIONS TO BE DECIDED SHORTLY

CHANGE IN FORM OF GOVERNMENT MEANS MUCH FOR CITY IN MANY WAYS.

ARE MOST IMPORTANT

Suggestions Made For The Betterment of the Whole Community Can Be Accomplished Easily.

To The Editor: Why cannot Janesville have a public playground, or playgrounds for its children? Why cannot Janesville have band concerts in the parks during the summer evenings? Why not have a municipal cleaning up day and then keep the city clean all summer? What would we gain if we did own the water works?

I have divided my letter into the above divisions and first, and most important in my mind is the question of a public playground for the children. Now the boys and girls, it would take but a few hundred dollars and its effect would be wonderful on the whole community. Madison has playgrounds and playground instructors to teach the children how to play and what to play. Of course, this is too extravagant an idea for Janesville to adopt at once, but a small beginning might be made by installing a few swings in some of the parks; having off a baseball diamond, or two about the city and other minor means for out-of-door sports.

I wish to call attention to the following report of the conditions in Milwaukee. It tells a story all in itself.

"Fifty per cent of the children doing absolutely nothing" is rather a startling statement in the report of the recreation survey made by the Board of Education and the Child Welfare Commission of Milwaukee. A play expert of the national recreation association—Rowland Haynes—formerly a specialist in psychology, spent several weeks in making the study. Information was gathered as to what the children in a given district were doing on Saturdays and after school hours. It was found that nineteen per cent were working, thirty-one per cent playing and the rest were doing absolutely nothing. It is believed that these facts gathered in Milwaukee are fairly typical and present a strong argument for the necessity of providing more adequate playgrounds. "Doing nothing" is tremendously dulling and results in filling up the juvenile courts.

"The national recreation association has four experts constantly traveling to help give the children a chance to play," Milwaukee, Ia., one of the first cities to undertake a thorough and comprehensive study of its recreation conditions and needs.

The city owns numerous little plots of land that could easily be converted into play spots without the detriment of the property and for the benefit of the citizens of tomorrow. The upper end of the Court House park could be utilized and cheaply transformed into an ideal play ground. There is a little corner in the second ward that could be utilized. There are numerous other corners in other wards and it would keep the children off the streets. Think it over.

Now we come to band concerts during the summer months. Janesville boasts of a first-rate band that is improving rapidly. Why not encourage it and at the same time give the people the benefit of the music. There was not a band concert held last summer that the park was not crowded until the last sound of the music died away. It was an orderly crowd that came to enjoy the music and went away satisfied. Why not make it a part of the civic budget if necessary to raise the funds desired and make the Bower City band a genuine Janesville band.

When it comes to the question of cleaning up the city and keeping it clean I am almost on the verge of becoming a socialist or a woman suffragette, or anything of that nature that would guarantee a clean city. I am not complaining about the work of the street department for I honestly believe the present superintendent has done all that he could do and the results are far better than should be expected. I am speaking about the general sanitary conditions of the city as a whole.

The health officer has issued his spring warning, but what does it amount to? If the law relative to throwing refuse and garbage in vacant lots is violated what will be done about it? Nothing. The law is not enforced in this respect. Look at the bank of the river as viewed from any of the bridges? There is a fair example of what the city ordinances amount to in way of enforcement.

Some cities have a spring cleaning up day when all the property-owners take their yards, clean up their refuse and winter accumulation of rubbish and it is hauled away. Madison has such a plan and the city sends its wagons around to haul the refuse away and dump it where it does not offend anyone. Rockford has it, and numerous adjacent cities.

Many communities have a regular collection of garbage during the summer months for which the property-owner pays a small sum, but it helps keep the city clean, sweet and pure. You are now having a similar ordinance here but it was abandoned just as the dog license was when it hit some of the "howlers."

Speaking in this connection it might be well for the city officials to look after their own sanitary conditions a little. We have a school board composed of men supposed to be interested in education and such matters but some one of them or all of them should inspect the sanitary conditions at the school buildings. Should look into the subject of ventilation and other matters of health. This is not a suggestion from hearsay evidence, but from conditions actually known to exist in at least one of the buildings where the little children even refuse to go to the toilet because of the smells and disgusting conditions.

Perhaps if we ever secure woman's suffrage, giving the women an equal right to vote with men, these conditions would not exist. If there is anything the average woman hates it is dirt and filth, and a woman health officer, a woman member of the school board might not fear to trample upon the feelings of anyone so long as the object at hand—cleanliness—was at stake.

But not least, what would Janesville gain if it owned the water works? The recent readjustment of the city water rates has fixed the rates for time to come and by it the city must pay some eleven thousand dollars more a year for its own water than hitherto. This means that the city will continue to pay rates at the discretion of the state, and at the same time interest on the water bonds.

GOOD PRODUCTION BY DRAMATIC CLUB

Lawrence College Students in "Cricket on the Hearth" at Myers Theatre Last Evening.

Members of the dramatic club of the Lawrence college school of expression did some very clever work in their presentation of "Cricket on the Hearth," a dramatization of Charles Dickens' fairy tale of the home, at the Myers theatre last evening.

Good judgment had been shown in the selection of the cast and every character seemed admirably fitted to the role taken. About time during the piece did the action lag and the inconspicuous by-play which had been carefully worked out together with the taste in costume and scenery, added not a little to the success of the production.

The story of the play is familiar to all lovers of Dickens. The other name given to the sketch is, "A Fairy Tale of the home," which gives an idea of the subject-matter. There is really no great dramatic power in the piece, its strongest quality being the keen human interest which is aroused and the realistic portrayal of the characters.

Howard Watson as Caleb Plummer, the toy-maker, did some of the best acting of the cast. His part of the old man who had deceived his blind daughter to make her happy, was difficult, but he played one of the most capable in the company. Miss Doris McKay, as Fille Slowly, had another difficult role. As the elusively servant, who had scarcely a line to speak but her awkward, clumsy manners, and her foolish, almost idiotic expressions, and at the same time her keen susceptibility to the true meaning of things, were brought out in a remarkably clever way.

Isaac La Gasse as Mr. Tackleton, the villain of the piece, took his part well, as did also Walter Spratt as John Parrybingle, the home-loving husband of a much younger wife, and Miss Hazel McKee as his wife. Miss Gaila Darling, as Bertha, the blind daughter of Caleb, also did some good acting.

A short curtain-raiser, "The Marble Arch," was a delightful comedy sketch which deserves mention. There were but four characters in it, a newly wedded couple jealous of one another, and a bachelor and a widow. Howard Watson as the bachelor did some good work, and Miss Darling as the widow took her part well. Miss Snyder as the wife was also charming, while Mr. La Gasse as the careful husband was equally pleasing.

TOWNS TO VOTE ON STATE HIGHWAY AID

Rock County Townships Will Consider Matter at Annual Meetings April 2nd.

The towns of Wisconsin at their annual meetings April 2nd will have an opportunity to vote whether they will build any roads or bridges in 1913 under the new state aid law, and most of the townships in Rock county will give the matter consideration.

The law provides that if a town wishes to vote a tax of four hundred dollars or over, the county shall provide an equal amount and the state an equal amount. This money is to be spent in permanently improving either by grading, graveling, or grading as is voted by the electors of the town, a portion of the county system of highways lying within that town, which portion is also selected by the electors of the town.

The law also provides that if a town wishes to vote a tax of four hundred dollars or over, the county shall provide an equal amount and the state an equal amount. This money is to be spent in permanently improving either by grading, graveling, or grading as is voted by the electors of the town, a portion of the county system of highways lying within that town, which portion is also selected by the electors of the town.

The new law gives towns the opportunity of getting aid from villages and cities for building those main traveled highways which are the greatest burden upon the town. The cities and villages are also benefited by the greater ease of travel and the consequent increase in business and social activity.

About five hundred towns in the state voted for state aid at special or regular meetings last year, and the money will be spent this year. It is expected that many more towns will vote this year, and that 1913 will see inaugurated an almost universal building of good roads under county supervision.

Miss Doris McKay, as Fille Slowly, had another difficult role. As the elusively servant, who had scarcely a line to speak but her awkward, clumsy manners, and her foolish, almost idiotic expressions, and at the same time her keen susceptibility to the true meaning of things, were brought out in a remarkably clever way.

Isaac La Gasse as Mr. Tackleton, the villain of the piece, took his part well, as did also Walter Spratt as John Parrybingle, the home-loving husband of a much younger wife, and Miss Hazel McKee as his wife. Miss Gaila Darling, as Bertha, the blind daughter of Caleb, also did some good acting.

A short curtain-raiser, "The Marble Arch," was a delightful comedy sketch which deserves mention. There were but four characters in it, a newly wedded couple jealous of one another, and a bachelor and a widow. Howard Watson as the bachelor did some good work, and Miss Darling as the widow took her part well. Miss Snyder as the wife was also charming, while Mr. La Gasse as the careful husband was equally pleasing.

FLIRTING WITH DEATH.

That "discretion is the better part of valor" is a lesson which a camera man had to learn very nearly at the cost of his life a few weeks ago when his professional enthusiasm made him too forgetful of danger. Only a fraction of an inch intervened between him and a plunge to instant death on rocks 4000 feet below him. It happened while he and three fearless guides were scaling Alpine peaks which had never been conquered. The party was combining photography with exploration. The movements of the expedition were so seriously handicapped by the photographer's heavy camera, etc., that the guides considered it absurd to attempt to scale the perpendicular precipices. But after they had been swung from peak to peak on the Western Suspension Railway the underestimated camera man would not stop. The summits that reared overhead when they had gone as far as mechanical means could convey, were so alluring to the "nervy" photographer that he could not resist the call of the heights. The guides realized that the task ahead would drain the courage, skill and endurance of the most expert mountaineer. To make the attempt would be flirting with death to such an extent that those who "knew" knew better. They argued, then pleaded with the camera man not to try what they felt sure was equivalent to suicide. But he turned a deaf ear to all their appeals. They could not cool his ardor, partly because he knew no fear and partly because of his lack of experience in mountaineering which blinded him to the peril ahead. The only experience he had was of the photographic kind, and that, combined with unbounded enthusiasm, and the daring he inspired anew in his guides finally induced them to make the attempt. They went reluctantly—as if they were about to attend "their own funeral." This feeling was well justified by the fact that at several moments they escaped death literally by a hair's breadth. The expedition which was equipped by Lyman H. Howe secured scenes which illustrate the grandeur of the mysterious heights far more eloquently than any pen can describe. These views constitute one of the big features of an entirely new program which Mr. Howe will present at the Myers Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26 and 27, matinee 27.

REALISM ON THE STAGE.

Julia Marlowe, who with E. H. Southern will appear in this city, April 17, lately wrote interestingly of "realism idealized." "At one time I experimented in a performance," said Miss Marlowe, "of 'As You Like It,' lighting the forest of Arden accord-

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A Municipal Play Ground For The Children.

The old and oft repeated adage of "take care of your pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves" is not only true as applied to the financial world but to the social as well. For if you take care of your children you men and women will take care of themselves. The children are the very vitals of any country, as men and women are only children grown tall. A moral healthy, industrious child will make a good citizen.

One of our greatest questions is how to better produce this kind of a child. We cannot hold the mother and father wholly responsible for this and compel them without any assistance from us to perform this sacred function for society, as there is so much in the way of environment and their associates over which help the parents of the child have little or no control that goes to make that child.

Either a desirable or an undesirable citizen, whichever the case may be and if the child either as a grown-up or as a child violates any of the laws of that society, then that society demands a penalty from that child not withstanding society has been guilty of contributory negligence in the protection of the child.

The mother of Frank Van Dine one of the notorious car barn bandits said "It cost the state of Illinois $10,000 to hang my boy. What if society could have used that, giving our sons something better to spend the early formative years of the adventure spirit upon?" What is Rock County and the city of Janesville spending in the prosecution of its boys and girls for the violations of the laws of society? And what are they in the words of Mrs. Van Dine spending to give those same boys and girls a something better to spend the early formative years of the adventure spirit upon? Not one cent. We are spending large sums of money for the protection of our bird life and our animal life and our forest preserves, but how much for the protection of our child life, morals and training so as to make better men and women, scarcely one cent.

The city of Janesville is fast building up a large number of flat buildings. Where are those children going to spend their adventure spirit? In the streets, there is no place else for the children in which they can romp and play. The parks are beautiful, with their flower beds and rose bushes and ornamental shrubbery and green grass, but you can't play there you would spoil the beauty of the park, that is to look at and sit in and admire. Why not spend a little more money in order to assist the poor overworked mother in better protecting her child so that her chances for suffering the silent grief of Mrs. Van Dine will be materially lessened and society and our country be the gainer by a valuable human life, by the erection and procuring of a municipal play ground for our boys and girls, one in which they can romp and play and spend their adventure spirit in.

Go to the municipal court. In the city hall most any morning, and there note the tear stained face of an overworked mother pleading with Judge Elford for clemency for her boy or girl who has transgressed the laws, she tells the old oft repeated story of how she had to work to support the family, of a dead, invalid, deserted or drunken father and in some cases the pleader is the father himself, but it is the same story, they had to work all day, no time to watch the children, whose only play ground was a small yard and none at all so were forced to run and play in the streets, with bad associates. The police, the municipal court and Judge Elford, who is hedged on the one hand by a public demanding that the law be enforced and on the other by the pleas for clemency of the tear stained face of the father or mother, he has no choice the law must be obeyed, and society and the country is robbed of a valuable factor, while this same boy or girl might have been saved had they in their early childhood had the advantages of a municipal play ground.

Left The Door Open.

A man who was walking through a train inadvertently left the door of one of the cars open. A big man sitting in a seat in the middle of the car yelled: "Shut the door, you fool! Were you raised in a barn?" The man who had left the door open closed it and then, dropping into a seat, buried his face in his hands and began to weep. The big man looked somewhat uncomfortable, and, rising, finally walked up to the weeper and tapped him on the shoulder.

"My friend," he said, "I didn't intend to hurt your feelings, I just wanted you to close the door."

The man who was weeping raised his head and grinned. "Old man," he said, "I am not crying because you hurt my feelings, but because you asked me if I were raised in a barn. The sad fact is that I was raised in a barn, and every time I hear an ass bray it makes me homesick."

HOW OLD PEOPLE

May Prolong Their Lives

At an advanced age waste is more rapid than repair. The organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth. The circulation is poor, the blood thin and watery, the appetite poor and digestion weak.

We want to say to every aged person in this vicinity that Vinol, our delicious and liver and iron tonic (without oil) will prolong life. It creates an appetite, aids digestion and makes good blood. In this natural manner Vinol retards waste and replaces weakness with strength, giving new life to the worn system.

If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

C. A. Glossner, 24 Ontario St., Rochester, N. Y., has recovered from a long and severe attack of kidney trouble, his cure being due to Foley's Kidney Pills. After detailing his case, he says: "I am sorry I did not learn sooner of Foley's Kidney Pills. In a few days' time my backache completely left me and I felt greatly improved. My kidneys became stronger, dizzy spells left me and I was no longer annoyed at night. I feel 100 per cent better since using Foley's Kidney Pills." Tonic in action, quick in results. Try them. ### PRESS COMMENT

Sub Rosa Statecraft.

Madison State Journal: The U. S. Senate, in secret session, considered for several days the nomination of Madden Pittney for Supreme Judge. The dispatches tell us that many senators opposed Pittney's nomination on the ground that his decisions as a New Jersey Judge showed him to be unfair to labor, to have views more suited to the feudal age than to the present day.

Why should these matters be discussed in secret session? It is public business. Senators are, or ought to be, public servants. The people are entitled to know both what they say and how they vote.

Offer an Incentive.

Fond du Lac Reporter: In announcing that it will give special awards to the road commissioners in those townships in which the highways show the greatest improvement for the present year, the good roads division of the Business Men's Association has offered a further incentive to the good road work, which is gradually penetrating to all parts of the county. Last year much improvement work was done and from indications the results of the next few months' labor along this line will be even greater.

How They Feel.

Madison Democrat: The resolutions adopted unanimously by the Union League club, condemning the Roosevelt declarations on the recall of judicial decisions, show the feeling of the business interests of the country toward the revolutionary doctrines announced in the Columbus speech. The protest is not the scream of special privilege. The Union League club represents rather the brains and the substantial business interests of the country—interests which make for the prosperity of all classes of society.

A Shameful Admission.

Oshkosh Northwestern: According to The Beloit Free Press the saloons of that city were closed on election day last week "for the first time in the history of the city."

If this is so it is a shameful admission of neglect of duty on the part of Beloit authorities in the past. The state law requiring the closing of all saloons on every election day is plain and explicit. And what have the people of Beloit been doing all these years, while the saloon keepers were violating this law and complacently officials apparently winking at the practice?

A New Slogan.

Marquette Eagle Star: "Remember the Maine" is a cry that has served its purpose. Fourteen years have past since the trouble with Spain and it is time, with the burial at sea of the remains of the historic battleship and the bones of its illustrious crew, that the nation turn its attention to other directions. "Remember North Dakota" is a slogan that will please the La Follette and Taft wings of the Republican party for the next few weeks.

Daily Thought.

The great question in life is the suffering we cause; and the utmost ingenuity of metaphysicians cannot justify the man who has pierced the heart that loved him.—Benjamin Constant.
